My name is Za'niyah Huffman and I'm a 15 year old student at Law Enforcement Memorial Officers High School (LEMOHS - yes, that's a mouthful!). I'm currently enrolled in the Forensic Science Academy at LEMOHS, which has been a great experience.

While I'm enjoying the lab coats and magnifying glasses, my long-term goals are focused on a military career, specifically within the Medical Corps. My sights are set on the Navy or Coast Guard. Think less CSI, more combat medic!

My passion for supporting others stems from a deeply personal experience. Having experienced homelessness myself, I understand the struggles firsthand.

Organizations like Lotus House, which have not only provided a safe space for me but a safe space for its housed women, really ignited my desire to make an impact one way or another on our world. Nevertheless, their work led me into seeking opportunities to help those in need.
