Deputy Director of Operations and
Compliance
Lotus House Women's Shelter
Miami, FL

Katy Roth is a nonprofit professional and engineer by training with a passion for social and environmental justice. In her current role as the Deputy Director of Operations and Compliance at Lotus House, Katy oversees the shelter's operations, maintenance and culinary departments and is actively involved in the upcoming development of a neighborhood children's resource center, the Children's Village.

Katy studied architectural engineering and worked as a mechanical engineer with an emphasis on sustainable building consulting. She provided pro bono consulting on Lotus Village, the largest shelter for women and children in the country, which led her to working full time at Lotus House in 2018.
